DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WNUK ET AL (US 5,939,467), in view of ULLMANN'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF INDUSTRIAL CHEMISTRY (ULLMANN'S).

WNUK ET AL '467 discloses multilayer films comprising at least one layer of an amorphous polylactide polymer and at least one layer of another biodegradable polymer such as a high melting point aliphatic polyester having a typical Tm of 76 C or more. The film is typically formed by coextrusion. (line 23-50, col. 7; line 49-68, col. 18; line 27, col. 33 to line 20, col. 34)

ULLMANN'S discloses that it is well known in the art to form multilayer film structures by extrusion coating a molten resin onto a preformed film or by coextrusion. (section 2.4.2-2.4.3)

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form laminates comprising non- or low crystallinity polylactide resins in combination with another biodegradable polymer in order to form biodegradable articles with improved performance, compostability and/or processibility. One of ordinary skill in the art would have utilized the polylactide layer(s) as the core layer or the surface layers (claim 3-4, , 8-9) depending on the particular combination of biodegradability, mechanical properties, heat-sealability, abuse resistance, environmental resistance, etc. as required by specific applications.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have used a conventional laminate forming method such as extrusion coating of the another biodegradable polymer onto a polylactide layer which involves heating the polymer to a temperature greater than its melting point.
